One in three Floridians is impacted by one or more of the over 100 types of arthritis. Nationally, that is 70 million adults and 300,000 children. The mission of the Arthritis Foundation is to improve lives through leadership in the prevention, control and cure of arthritis and related diseases.

The Florida Chapter's staff and volunteers conduct public education and patient service programs including exercise classes, Juvenile Arthritis summer camps and arthritis clinics. Professional education and training are provided to healthcare professionals to increase knowledge of the disease for better treatment and care of arthritis patients. Research and fellowship programs are funded nationwide and locally at the University of South Florida and University of Florida.

Arthritis and rheumatic conditions cost the US economy $86.2 billion annually. The Arthritis Foundation receives no government funding and relies solely upon voluntary contributions from the public to underwrite significant research and provide vital community services.
